Walking Route

Okyo's Walkway

Approx. 60 minutes walk

A gentle country road leading to Daijo-ji Temple. Vehicles are permitted on this road, but it is quiet as it is not a major road. Take the stone steps on the approach to the temple. At the top visitors are overwhelmed by the presence of the 1200-year-old camphor tree. In addition to visiting the temple, we recommend taking a walk in the precincts, where it is quiet, and filled with beautiful Japanese atmosphere. A walk along the nearby embankment is also a refreshing way to spend some time.

To Tottori / Amarube

Vehicle only road: Kasumi Amarube Road

To Toyooka

where visitors can see fusuma (sliding door) painted by Japanese-style painter Okyo Maruyama.

Daijo-ji Temple (Okyo Temple)

In the 13 guest rooms of Daijo-ji Temple, there are 165 fusuma paintings etc. designated as national important cultural properties. The paintings incorporate not only realism but also light, shadow, and perspective techniques. The whole temple is like a museum.

Visit to Daijo-ji Temple / 9:00 to 15:40 (Last Entry) 800 JPY (cash only)
